

of medical and health-related equipment, staple food items, and basic toiletries and hygiene products. Individual U.S. citizens are also substantially donating medical and health-related equipment, food staples, basic toiletries, and hygiene products.

We commend the people of Cuba and their supporters worldwide for showing the strength of their will and the power of their voice, which the Cuban government continues to repress through Internet censorship, violent and unjust detentions of hundreds of peaceful protestors, journalists, and civic activists, use of violence, and other oppressive tactics. We stand with every Cuban seeking a government that respects their human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Sincerely,
